

Description

Simple half ice breakout pattern.

Coach dumps puck in and the players breakout.
Once the puck in back in the neutral zone it is passed back to the coach who dumps it in again to a different location.
This continues for five cycles and each time the puck is dumped to a different location in the zone.

The players never stop moving when the puck goes back to the coach.
They just skate through the neutral zone and get ready for the next dump-in.

Key points:
